Position: Public Sector Human Resources (PUAD 5170)

Location: Dalhousie University, School of Public Administration,

Studley Campus

Hourly wage: As per CUPE collective Agreement

Workload: 90 hours (January to April 2023)

A major part of most public administration positions is human resource management. Therefore, it is important that public administrators understand the components of human resource management and their effect on an organization. In this class, human resource management is defined in a very broad sense, touching on all the major components of human resource management in order to give an overall concept or paradigm.

The course is offered from January to April 2023 on Wednesdays from 11:35 to 14:25. The TA for the HR course is expected to assist the professor in facilitating some group discussions, grade students' midterms and assignments, and attend some classes. It is desirable that the TA has a strong interest and performance in HR, excellent organization skills, willingness and ability to take initiative and work as a team. An internship in HR is considered an asset.

The candidate will support the professor's effort to create a healthy, constructive and challenging learning environment. With this in mind, the ideal candidate will have succeeded in this course and will have obtained a grade of A- or higher or will have successfully completed an equivalent HR course at the Masters or PhD level. The candidate will demonstrate that he or she can conduct him or herself in a highly professional manner with students and faculty. The candidate will, for example, have a personable approach to students, show concern for student learning and abide by the ethical standards of the university. The successful candidate will follow directions as laid out by the lead instructor and engage in a constructive dialogue with the lead instructor throughout the course. All job offers are provisional until confirmed by the School.

To apply, please submit a cover letter along with a current CV to Krista Cullymore krista.cullymore@dal.ca. The cover letter should mention why you think you are the ideal candidate for the position. The deadline for applications is November 10, 2022

All offers of employment are conditional upon sufficient student enrolment in the course and approval by the University.

Dalhousie University commits to achieving inclusive excellence through continually championing equity, diversity, inclusion, and accessibility. The university encourages applications from Indigenous persons (especially Mi'kmaq), persons of Black/African descent (especially African Nova Scotians), and members of other racialized groups, persons with disabilities, women, and persons identifying as members of 2SLGBTQ+ communities, and all candidates who would contribute to the diversity of our community. Position: TEACHING ASSISTANT

Strategic Financial Management

Location: Dalhousie University, School of Public Administration,

Wage: As per CUPE Collective Agreement

Workload: 110 hours (January to April 2023)

The course will review concepts of financial planning, budgeting and accountability. It will place these finance and budgeting concepts within a holistic strategic management context. A review of public sector accounting will also be included to develop an understanding of the assumptions and principles of accounting.

The course is offered from January to April 2023 on Mondays from 1435 to 1725 and has a tutorial on Tuesdays from 1435 to 1725. The teaching assistant will be responsible for a series of course related tasks, including preparing and holding of the tutorial, office hours for consultations with students, and grading of student work.

The TA will work for a total of 110 hours during the term. The candidate will support the professor's effort to create a healthy, constructive, and challenging learning environment. With this in mind, the ideal candidate will have succeeded in PUAD 5250 and will have obtained a grade of A- or higher or will have successfully completed an equivalent course at the

TEACHING ASSISTANT POSTING: History (HIST 1971)

DALHOUSIE UNIVERSITY

Halifax, Nova Scotia

POSTING DATE: October 13, 2022

APPLICATION DEADLINE: October 21, 2022

POSITION: TA130 (Multiple Positions)

DEPARTMENT/LOCATION: Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences

(Please note that lectures and tutorials are held at the Sexton

Campus, 5217 Morris St., Halifax)

PAY RATE: As per CUPE Collective Agreement

WORK ASSIGNMENT: Teaching Assistants will assist with History 1971.03 "Engineering & Society: Historical and Philosophical Perspectives" in the Winter 2023 term. Duties include but are not limited to: attending weekly lectures and assigned tutorials (one or two groups of 30 students each); regular consultation with the course instructor; and grading several written assignments and a take-home exam.

REQUIREMENTS OF POSITION: Teaching Assistants should be currently enrolled in, or have a degree from, a humanities graduate program, preferably with experience in literary studies, the history of science and technology, and/or the history of philosophy. Experience leading tutorials and teaching writing skills are important.

This course will juxtapose key examples of global built culture with literary/philosophical texts. Its goal is to assist students as they discover the complementary ways in which texts and built culture may be interpreted, as well as the ways in which literary and philosophical texts can frame the ethical stakes of engineering. A passion for primary texts, including novels and poetry, is critical to the enjoyment of this position.

Lectures and tutorials will be held in person. Applicants must be available during the lecture time (Wednesdays 18:35-20:25) as well as during one of the tutorial times. For tutorial times, see:
https://dalonline.dal.ca/PROD/fysktime.P_DisplaySchedule

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED IN THE ABOVE POSITION, PLEASE APPLY IN WRITING BY THE APPLICATION DEADLINE. Applications must include a cover letter and a résumé with contact information for two references. Applications should include a ranked list of tutorial sections for which you are available, in order of preference. Please also indicate if you are interested in more than one TA appointment.

Applications should be sent by email, with “HIST 1971 TA Application” in the subject line, to: Dr. Lindsay DuBois

Part-Time Employment Opportunity: Teaching Assistant in the Early Modern Studies Program

Deadline for Applications: Friday, November 11, 2022

Established in 1789, King's College is Canada's oldest chartered university and is associated with Dalhousie University. A small and extraordinarily lively academic community located in Halifax (Kjipuktuk), Nova Scotia,

King's is known nationally and internationally for its highly acclaimed interdisciplinary programs in the humanities, including its renowned Foundation Year Program, its professional programs in journalism and its fine arts programs in creative writing. King's is a community where students, faculty, alumni, and staff work to bring greater understanding, creativity, and compassion to the world.

The Early Modern Studies Program and the History of Science and Technology Program at the University of King's College invites applications to handle duties in EMSP 3350.03W (cross-listed as HSTC 3350.03W) "Art, Optics, and Technologies of Illusion". EMSP/HSTC 3350 is an interdisciplinary course that focuses on the ways in which artistic methods and applied science have contributed to our changing understanding of perception. Through an exploration of a wide range of technologies of vision such as camera obscura, stereoscopes, and virtual reality, this course asks: what does it mean to "fool the eye"?

Duties include but are not limited to:

- reading course material
- grading assignments and exams
- holding office hours and assisting students with assignments
- attending lectures (please consult the Dalhousie Academic Timetable regarding class time)
- moderating discussions and/or tutorials
- consulting on a regular basis with the instructor regarding the approach taken in teaching, grading and other expectations

Qualifications and Experience:

Candidates may come from various fields but should have at least an undergraduate degree. Graduates with some background in early modern studies, art history, history of science, literature, philosophy, classics, or cultural studies are especially encouraged to apply. Prior TA experience is also an asset.

Hourly Rate of Pay: $25.27 (classification of TA130).

The position is conditional on the course's final enrollment numbers.

To apply for this position, please forward your C.V. (including a statement concerning your teaching experience) to Sharon Brown at sharon.brown@ukings.ca

Questions regarding the position should be directed to Dr. Justina Spencer, who can be reached by email at Justina.spencer@ukings.ca

The University of King's College is committed to diversity, equity, accessibility, and inclusion. We encourage and welcome applications from Indigenous persons (especially Mi'kmaq), persons with a disability, racialized persons, including persons of Black/African descent (especially African Nova Scotians), women, persons of a minority sexual orientation and/or gender identity, and all candidates who would contribute to the diversification of our community.

Teaching Assistant posting: Contemporary Studies Program

Posted on August 31, 2022

Part-Time Employment Opportunity: Teaching Assistant in the Contemporary Studies Program

Deadline for Applications: Monday, September 5, 2022

Established in 1789, King's College is Canada's oldest chartered university and is associated with Dalhousie University. A small and extraordinarily lively academic community located in Halifax (Kjipuktuk), Nova Scotia, King's is known nationally and internationally for its highly acclaimed interdisciplinary programs in the humanities, including its renowned Foundation Year Program, its professional programs in journalism and its fine arts programs in creative writing. King's is a community where students, faculty, alumni, and staff work to bring greater understanding, creativity, and compassion to the world.

The Contemporary Studies Program at the University of King's College invites applications for a Teaching Assistant to handle duties in CTMP 3321.03, "Representations of the Holocaust: Bearing Witness." This is an interdisciplinary course which asks questions about this traumatic historical period, such as: Why did the Holocaust happen "in the middle of civilized Europe"? Who were the perpetrators? Does the word "Holocaust" refer only to the Nazi attempt to annihilate the Jewish people, or should we also consider the experiences of different victim groups? Is the Holocaust unique or should it be considered in comparison with other genocides? We examine different modes of representing victims' and other participants' experiences based on eye-witness accounts from the killing fields in the East, Holocaust diaries written in the ghettos, memoirs written by survivors of the Nazi camps and perpetrators' diaries, as well as works by historians and literary works written by the participants of the events. The class will be held in person, although two sessions will be held remotely.

Duties include but not limited to:

- attending lectures (please consult the Dalhousie Academic Timetable regarding class time)
- leading tutorial discussion groups and evaluating student oral presentations
- holding office hours (in person and/or virtual) and ensuring an online presence to assist students with assignments

- grading assignments and exams
- moderating online forum discussions
- consulting on a regular basis with the instructor regarding the approach taken in teaching, grading and other expectations

Qualifications and Experience:

Candidates may come from various fields and should have at least an M.A. degree in a Humanities subject. Some familiarity with the subject matter is required, as is prior TA experience at the university level).

Hourly Rate of Pay: $25.27 (classification of TA130). Position is conditional on the course's final enrollment numbers

To apply for this position, please forward your C.V. (including a statement concerning your teaching experience) to Sharon Brown at sharon.brown@ukings.ca

Questions regarding the position should be directed to course instructor, Dr. Dorota Glowacka, who can be reached by email at glowacka@dal.ca.

The University of King's College is committed to diversity, equity, accessibility, and inclusion. We encourage and welcome applications from Indigenous persons (especially Mi'kmaq), persons with a disability, racialized persons, including persons of Black/African descent (especially African Nova Scotians), women, persons of a minority sexual orientation and/or gender identity, and all candidates who would contribute to the diversification of our community.

Teaching Assistant posting: History of Science and Technology program

Posted: August 29, 2022

Deadline for Applications: Friday, September 2, 2022

Established in 1789, King's College is Canada's oldest chartered university and is associated with Dalhousie University. A small and extraordinarily lively academic community located in Halifax (Kjipuktuk), Nova Scotia, King's is known nationally and internationally for its highly acclaimed interdisciplinary programs in the humanities, including its renowned Foundation Year Program, its professional programs in journalism and its fine arts programs in creative writing. King's is a community where students, faculty, alumni, and staff work to bring greater understanding, creativity, and compassion to the world.

The History of Science and Technology Program at the University of King's College invites applications for a Teaching Assistant position for "Beginnings of Wisdom:

Science in the Premodern World” (HSTC 2001/CLAS 2001). The course explores the history of premodern natural philosophy through the study of primary sources from antiquity (Near Eastern and Greco-Roman) and the medieval Islamicate and Christian cultures.

Duties include but are not limited to:

- reading course material
- grading assignments and exams
- holding office hours and assisting students with assignments
- attending lectures (please consult the Dalhousie Academic Timetable regarding class time)
- consulting on a regular basis with the instructor regarding the approach taken in teaching, grading and other expectations

Qualifications and Experience:

Candidates may come from various fields but should have at least an undergraduate degree. Familiarity with the ancient and/or medieval periods will be considered an asset, as will prior TA experience.

Hourly Rate of Pay: $25.27. The position is conditional on the course’s final enrollment numbers
