Introduction to University Education

Semester: Winter 2023

Schedule: Tuesdays, Thursdays, 1:00 pm – 2:15 pm

Course Description: The objective of this course is to provide first-year students with an introduction to the special academic learning and critical thinking environment of our university. Through self-evaluation, discussion, field experiences, and traditional classroom exercises, students will develop an understanding of the learning, teaching and research culture of the university so that they will be able well to pursue their undergraduate studies with a sense of personal fulfillment and achievement. This course normally attracts a significant number of international students, which will provide both Canadian and international students with a vibrant environment for discussion and the posing of questions from many different perspectives.

Qualifications: Candidates must have a Ph.D. degree in Education and/or Philosophy with a track record of success teaching first-year students in an active learning format. The course includes discussion of critical thinking and the Socratic method in teaching, and therefore philosophical expertise related to Education is necessary. Additionally, experience teaching students whose first language is not English would be preferred.

Remuneration: Remuneration is in accordance with the Collective Agreement between Saint Mary's University and CUPE 3912

How to Apply: Applications are invited from part-time faculty colleagues who have demonstrable teaching experience in this area and who are appointed to the Faculty of Education. Applications must include a letter of intent, CV, a teaching dossier, official transcript, and three letters of reference (the transcript and letters of reference should come from the institution or professors directly). Applicants need not submit materials already on file. Send applications to Dr. Esther E. Enns, Acting Dean, Faculty of Education, Saint Mary's University, Halifax, NS B3H 3C3. Email: edu@smu.ca

Application deadline: November 28, 2022

Saint Mary's University hires on the basis of merit and is committed to the principles of employment equity. Saint Mary's University encourages applications from qualified women, visible minorities, Aboriginal people, and people with disabilities. Preference will be given to Canadian citizens and permanent residents of Canada.
